The Southern Adirondack RAPP (Relatives as Parents Program) was created to support the many grandparents and relatives in our community who have taken on the primary responsibility of raising a relative's child. This special group of people encounter challenges every day whether it be emotional or financial. RAPP's mission is to empower, connect and support grandparents.

Whether you are new at this or have been a caregiver for a while, the Southern Adirondack RAPP is here for you with the many programs to meet your needs. This program is open to any relative caregiver in Warren, Washington, and Northern Saratoga Counties.
